Training Overview

Women's Health at the Forefront

  - Having control and being independent
  - Trying to stay well
  - Being connected and involved
  - Navigating a changing world
- These themes highlight the complex and multifaceted experiences of older women and an unmet need for female Medicare beneficiaries: a member-centered biopsychosocial approach that addresses “what matters the most” to each woman
- Leveraging our expertise in healthy aging, SCAN has designed a women's health product that combines curated benefits and a well-coordinated personalized care experience to meet the unique healthcare needs of each woman at this stage
- Target Population: Women 65 – 75 yrs. Old
- Counties Covered: LA, OC

Gwen

- 65 years old
- living in OC

Concerns:

- urinary incontinence,
- weight loss, sleep
- Does not have a PCP

Considers SCAN

- Gwen receives marketing materials from SCAN and calls her broker

Welcome Call

- Gwen's Women's Health Coach (WCH) calls her to introduce herself & learn more about Gwen's priorities when it comes to her well-being.

Navigating is what matters to Gwen

- Gwen & her WHC review her priorities, one being urinary incontinence

Check-ins (~4x/yr.)

- Gwen's second priority area is weight loss. WHC helps Gwen navigate the SCAN benefit for weight management program reimbursement & finds out Gwen loves yoga so WHC helps her set up her OnePass so she can visit her local CorePower Yoga

Check-ins

- WHC checks in with Gwen and let's her know of an upcoming social event exclusively for Inspired members

Enrollment

- After hearing from her broker about SCAN Inspire, Gwen feels that this is the perfect product for her, and her broker helps her to enroll

Establishing Care

- WHC notices Gwen does not have a PCP so they choose a PCP in-network w/ Women's Health Center's of Excellence (UCI, Cedars, Memorial, etc.)

Establish plan

- At Gwen's request, WHC helps her set up an in-network gyn appointment. To help Gwen feel more confident going into her appointment, WHC walks her through how to approach sensitive topics with her physician

Feedback

- Gwen sends WHC a thank you note and shares that she has lost 5 pounds, and her incontinence has improved
